Featured Mineral:

Our featured mineral is wulfenite, an uncommon lead molybdate that is widely collected for its well-formed crystals and distinctive, yellow-orange colors. These specimens are from a classic wulfenite locality-the Ojuela Mine in Mapimí, Durango, Mexico. T We have selected some very well-developed and intensely colored wulfenite specimens that will be available on the platinum - level.

Tidbit... Wulfenite is pronounced WOOL-fen-ite and is named after Austrian mineralogist and Jesuit priest Franz Xavier von Wulfen (1728-1805). Wulfenite has also been known as "Gelbbleierz," "yellow lead spar," "yellow lead ore," "molybdate of lead," "molybdenated lead ore," "chillagite," and "carinthite".

As always we will have in-depth information for you to read more about wulfenite in our prized write-up.
