Celestial Earth Minerals & Mineral of The Month Club

March 2015

Dear David A.,

Tucson was fantastic! We purchased a ton of new minerals and a few fossils for the monthly offerings .

See what we have in store for you this month.

Calcite - South Dakota

Featured Mineral:

Our featured mineral is yellow calcite from the Elk Creek locality in Meade County, South Dakota. On the silver and gold-level, members specimens consist solely of this beautiful calcite. On the platinum-level we were able to obtain a select few specimens that contain barite as well. Only one out of every 40-50 minerals found have the barite mixed in with the calcite.

As always all members are welcome to purchase on the platinum-level.

You can read more about these specimens and the locality in our in-depth write-up.

Tarbuttite

Coming in April...

The featured mineral in April will be a composite of gyrolite and apophyllite-(KF). Composite specimens consist of two or more minerals that are more-or-less equally prominent. Our specimens of gyrolite and apophyllite-(KF) provide a fine opportunity for a side-by-side comparison of the physical properties of these two minerals. The gyrolite forms translucent, white spherules and nodular aggregates of radiating, lamellar, internal crystals that contrast nicely with the well-developed, colorless, transparent apophyllite-(KF) crystals. Gyrolite, a mineral we have never featured before, will serve as the primary mineral in our upcoming write-up.

Blessings from Dimitri, Mary, Christine, and Lora,
